

Dr. Garrison Copeland

Dr. Garrison Copeland welcomes you and your family to Central Park North Orthodontics. He enjoys helping both children and adults achieve a confident straight smile!

Early Life and Education

Born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Copeland suffered from extreme misalignment of his teeth as a child. After completing orthodontics to realign his smile, he realized how much of an impact the teeth and a straight smile can bring. This experience led him to pursuing his career in orthodontics!

Dr. Copeland attended Morehouse College for his bachelor's before moving on to Howard University College of Dentistry for his Doctor of Dental Surgery. Following that, he pursued a higher education at Case Western Reserve University Orthodontic Program and earned a Master of Science in Dentistry.

Views on Orthodontistry

Dr. Copeland joined the practice in June of 2020. His favorite part of the orthodontic industry is seeing his patient's faces when their new smile is revealed! Because no two smiles are alike, Dr. Copeland is able to take a patient-centered approach with each case.
